TOPOLOGIK, founded and directed by Prof. Michele Borrelli (University of Calabria, Italy), is an International Journal of Philosophy, Educational and Social Sciences. In cooperation with colleagues from nearly all European countries and outside Europe, the journal publishes articles representing a wide variety of current philosophical, educational and social issues and aims to a further exchange and an engaged critical discussion. The scientific committee features highly acclaimed international specialists whose studies focus on the subjects targeted by the journal.

In addition to several research projects in cooperation with international Universities, the scientific studies of the journal are based on assistance of the 'International Karl-Otto Apel Centre of Philosophy' in Calabria, and of 'Concordia - International Journal of Philosophy', founded and directed by Prof. Raúl Fornet-Betancourt (Germany).

The print version of TOPOLOGIK is published regularly in May/June and in October/November and is also available twice a year as online version: <http://www.topologik.net/>. The accepted languages of the articles are Italian, English, French, German, Portuguese and Spanish.
